Dominic Marrinucci is a global business leader with more than 45 years driving profitability and efficiency in apparel manufacturing, sourcing, and supply chain management across Asia, the Caribbean, and Central America. He is recognized for expertise in factory setup, turnaround, and optimization, as well as multimillion-dollar P&L oversight and global sourcing strategies.

A proven leader in international operations, Dominic has orchestrated seamless production transitions in Asia and Caribbean basin countries, achieving double-digit cost reductions, tariff savings, and accelerated speed-to-market for top U.S. and global retailers. His leadership includes overseeing 1,500-person garment factories, securing long-term free trade zone agreements, and negotiating multimillion-dollar sourcing contracts across regions.

Throughout his career, Dominic has demonstrated a unique ability to unify cross-cultural teams and deliver sustainable growth in diverse political, cultural, and business environments. His work has directly contributed to increased competitiveness and profitability for top retailers and manufacturers, while building enduring international business relationships.
